Dispatch from the Chronicler

Once upon a time, shortly after the advent of fire but prior to the popularity of the Internet, information about the SCA came by mail. Pikestaff, Tournaments Illuminated, and the local newsletter kept us in touch with our current middle ages.

Before the Internet, the newsletter announced local events, shared how-to articles from your friends and neighbors, and passed on the news of the populace. Then came Blogger. And WordPress. And Facebook. And Twitter. Suddenly the job of the Chronicler became a murky soup of redundancies. What's the point of having a paper newsletter to distribute news and events every other month or so when up to the minute information is available through one of many online sources? The newsletter has become an anachronism in a group that celebrates anachronisms.

It's not a sensible proposition: nagging folks to contribute, chasing down promised art and articles, formatting the whole business. Who has time for all that? If the SCA will allow the Province to update its website as a "newsletter" there's no reason to bother with this format, right?

I'm not so sure. You see, while I love the speed and ease of social media and the convenience of the web, there's still a place for the old-school newsletter. The Moonstone will never again be the sole source for information about Malagentia, but it is the best way to record our history. Webpages and newsletters may both change with the times, but it's much harder to go back to a previous incarnation of a website for that bit of nostalgia. A newsletter is a piece of frozen time. Come back in 15 years. Our website will be something we can't even imagine, but this issue of The Moonstone won't have changed. That's part of what the Chronicler's job should be: recording our history, as it is, right now.

For the latest news and weather, you can't beat the online format. I encourage you all to go to our website, and to join our Facebook and YahooGroups to stay current with Malagentia. The Moonstone is going to an electronic only, quarterly format. The PDFs of this and future Moonstones are available on our website <http://malagentia.eastkingdom.org/main/category/newsletter/>

In addition, I'm introducing a secondary publication called MoonLite to "fill in" during the off-months. MoonLite contains the minutes of the monthly Province meeting as well as any pertinent or interesting information that should be recorded for posterity. I hope that these changes will please the people of Malagentia and that you consider lending your voice and talents to our newsletter.

This is the Winter 2014 issue of The Moonstone, a publication of the Province of Malagentia of the Society for Creative Anachronism, Inc. (SCA, Inc.). The Moonstone is available from Lady Christiana Crane (Chris Hill), Chronicler, 27 Moody Rd, Standish, ME 04084. It is not a corporate publication of SCA, Inc., and does not delineate SCA, Inc. policies. Copyright © 2012 Society for Creative Anachronism, Inc.

For information on reprinting photographs, articles, or artwork from this publication, please contact the Chronicler, who will assist you in contacting the original creator of the piece. Please respect the legal rights of our contributors.

PUBLISHING POLICY

The Moonstone is published four times a year in January, April, July, October; The Moonstone is currently available only as a free, online PDF publication and can be downloaded and viewed on the Malagentia website at <http://malagentia.eastkingdom.org/main/category/newsletter/>

The Moonstone is supplemented by the much shorter newsletter, MoonLite, which is published seven times a year as a record of the events of the Province of Malagentia. There are no August publications in Malagentia.

A farewell message

From our Outgoing Seneschal

Dear People of Malagentia,

It has been an honor and wonder to serve you as Seneschal the past two years. I have learned much and I am so proud of all we have accomplished. I happily accepted the duties of Northern Region Deputy Chatelaine back in April and I will be putting my skills acquired in Malagentia to help the whole Northern Region grow.

Thank You for all your support, love and encouragement. I now leave you in the capable hands of Don Christian Wolfe. I know his ideas and knowledge will be a great asset to our group. He was an outstanding deputy!

Yours In Service,

Astrid

from the pen of the Seneschal

Greetings One and All,

I wanted to take some time to introduce myself to those of you who may not know me, as well as outline my hopes for our Province in the days to come. I would be remiss in this opportunity to not thank Astrid and the previous group of officers for their fine service to the Province, the Kingdom, and the Society. We all owe thanks to those who come before us and as we move ahead we shall honor them well.

As for myself I have been active in the Society for roughly twenty years. During that time trying to make myself useful serving as Province Fencing Marshal, Northern Regional Fencing Marshal, and several occasions as deputy and Autocrat for local and nearby group events. I love making rapier hilts and enjoy teaching quite a bit as well. I was Autocrat for Great Northeastern War XXV (a rewarding opportunity I highly recommend you try at some point) and recently served as deputy Seneschal to Baroness Astrid.

I will be setting our first challenge in motion as this new team takes office: To better utilize available technology to find a means to make it easier for all to share information and ensure open and constructive discussions. This will never replace the all important personal connection that we can have with a face to face discussion, but it will serve to help us along the way. We will also continue the discussion that was recently set in motion as to how we recognize the hard work and dedication of our populace. These are but a few items on a long list of work that needs to be done. Our intentions are clear and our work stands before us. I see very few challenges that we cannot overcome.

I will say that I am a proponent of ceremony as I have found it serves to encourage the best in us, shows our respect for each other and gives us strength.

I hold dear the hope that we can continue to build on the foundations that we have been given, to share with others the amazing works and deeds of our people, and to never lose a chance to laugh and celebrate who we are. We are Proud, we are Malagentian!

It also pleases me to announce my Deputies. Lady Ro Honig von Sommerfeldt will be my primary deputy. Lord Michael Acaensis and Baroness Astrid Sigrun Ulfkillsdottir will be assisting by lending an ear and providing good council. Contact information for everyone will be updated shortly. I look forward to serving with you all, charting our path, and sharing your hopes and dreams.

In Service to you,

Colonel
Christian Woolfe

This Month in Malagentia

A Missive From Northern Malagentia

Greetings! My name is Baron Kyppyn Kirkcaldy, KSCA, OP and I am a recent transplant to Gardiner, Maine. I have been asked to write an article on the activities of SCA members in the northern region of the Province of Malagentia. As all of you know, Maine is a large state with its major cities spread out over a 4 hour drive. As Portland is the largest city in Maine, there is also a large concentration of SCA members who enjoy playing in the area. Although Malagentia's borders stretch to Augusta, the members in the Augusta area find it difficult to make evening meetings or functions in Portland.

Since moving to the area, I have found out that there are over 20 Society members who would like to be more active, but the distance has been difficult and discouraging. So, in August of 2013, a group of us met to discuss holding activities in the Augusta area and experiencing what it would be like to be a group in the northern part of Malagentia.

These past few months, we have held classes, all day workshops, and even brewing seminars for local SCA members in the Augusta/Lewiston area. We have contacted the Augusta Police Department for a permit to hold fighter practices in the local park and have found an enjoyable meeting room at Pat's Pizza for informal gatherings. After a few months, we met again in December to discuss how our activities were progressing. We found that we enjoyed activities in our local areas and would like to continue to be a SCA group presence and form a riding in the area.

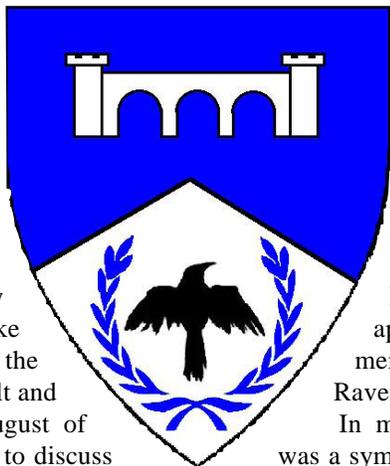

An attempt to give a progress report at the January Malagentia Meeting did not work due to weather and severe road conditions, but we are in communication with the Province Seneschal, Kingdom Seneschal, and the New Groups kingdom officer, and are discussing the group formation. We are excited about this progress, because it gives the area a foundation for more SCA recruitment. We will be able to provide activities, business meetings, and fighter practices to potential new members in a convenient location to their residences.

As we are still in the first stages of our request, we are required to have a name moving forward. Hopeful for the Heralds approval, the current area members have decided on Ravens Bridge.

In medieval times, a Bridge was a symbol for the governor of a province. Since Augusta is the modern home of the governor and the city has several large bridges we thought this was fitting. Many of us have Norse personas, so we like Ravens. Historically, Ravens have many symbolic meanings from ill-will to light and goodness. We found a website that stated that Ravens were symbols of initiation, protection, and prophecy. The start or "initiation" of a group seems to be a great symbol.

We look forward to February where we intend to turn in our paperwork and hopefully become the next Riding of Malagentia—Ravens Bridge.

Chronicler's Note: Baron Kyppyn would like to share this great link on forming cantons. <http://www.feoragdubh.eastkingdom.org/faq.php>

Province Notes

January 1 saw the new term for officers start. Eight new officers stepped into their posts and five officers returned for another term.

The monthly Province Business Meeting scheduled for January 2 was postponed to January 6 due to snow. On January 6, warnings of flash freezes and hazardous road conditions canceled the meeting for the month. The budget vote will happen at the next business meeting on February 6.

Making Stock in the Kellogg Kitchen

By Frances and Griffith Kellogg
photos by Christiana Crane

It's a cold winter day here in Orono, Maine. The thermometer reads -10, the snow is blowing all around, and most of the Downeast schools are closed for the day. So, since we have an extra day off up here, we decided today was the perfect day to make some stock! Griffith has fired up the wood stove and I've fired up the computer. Here we go!

Homemade stock is a delight that adds wonderful flavor to so many dishes and is surprisingly easy to prepare. It's much lower in sodium than most commercial stocks and broths and is guaranteed gluten free (some brands are not!). Best of all; it can be done for very little extra money. By saving certain vegetable scraps and bones over time, the only extra costs end up being water and fuel. It does take a lot of time, but it isn't time you will actively spend with it.

Today in the Kellogg kitchen, we're making beef stock. Beef stock is a slightly more involved process than the chicken stock we usually make. To get the rich, brown color we expect to see in a beef stock, the bones and vegetables will have to be roasted first. This creates both the color and the complexity of flavors we are looking for. We know the bones are ready when they turn that rich brown color you expect to see when you're searing meat before putting it into a stew, or when you're searing your meatballs before putting them into a sauce. It's past golden brown, but certainly not charred.

While the bones are roasting in the wood-fire oven, Griffith starts heating the water on the stove top. You can start with cold water on a gas or electric stove just fine — it will heat fast enough — but on the wood stove it takes much longer, so we're saving time.

For most conventional home ovens: roast the bones at 450° for about 35-45 minutes to achieve the color. Put the bones in water on the stove top. Deglaze the pan with water and add that to the pot as well. Roast the vegetables on the same pans in the oven for 15-20 minutes and add them to the pot later. Use approximately 8 lbs. bones, 6 qt. water, 8 oz. onion, 4 oz. carrots, 4 oz. celery, and 6 oz. tomato paste to make 1 gallon.* Using scraps, your measurements will be different, but that is OK.

Once the bones are ready, they go into the stock pot. Our goal is to keep the stock at a very low simmer for at least five hours before we add the veggies. If you really want a super rich flavor you can go up to eight hours. You don't want to boil the stock. Keep it as low as possible—almost like making a “meat tea”. If you know your stove very well, you can “set it and forget it” and find other things to do while it cooks. It may take a lot of time, but it doesn't have to take up lot of yours. Roast the veggies once the bones come out of the oven. After they have taken color, pour the tomato paste over them and roast for a few more minutes. It will still be a while before we add them to the stock, but they can be added after they have cooled.

While the stock cooks, let's talk about saving scraps. Saving scraps does take up a good amount of freezer space, but is definitely worthwhile if you're going to make your own stock. Save things you would normally throw out or compost: the ends of carrots and parsnips (peels will add color but are often bitter), the tops and bottoms of onions, the leafy green ends of leeks, tops of unwaxed turnips and rutabagas, tops of beets (red beets will add dark color), celery ends and leaves, fennel stems and leaves, mushrooms and radishes and any other small produce that will go bad before it's used, parsley stems and other fresh herbs.

Store your stock veggies in storage bags or plastic containers in the freezer and simply add to them each time you cook. You should almost always have enough each time you make stock.

The other thing you want to save is bones and meat scraps. We save everything we can; making sure to separate different meats. Most of what we have is chicken. Save the scraps and fat trimmings you cut off when you prepare it and save the bones from raw and cooked chicken, unless it's heavily seasoned or sauced. A good way to get bones is to buy bone-in cuts of meat and roast them lightly seasoned. De-bone after cooking and you've got stock bones. If you do this with any meats that you have, you can make matching stocks at any time. Even a small batch of stock will make all the difference in a soup.

Of course, even Griffith and I don't go through enough meat to make all the stock we want, and often have more vegetable scraps than we need, so several of our friends also supply meat bones for stock. In exchange, we give them some of the stock each time we make it.

“We know the bones are ready when they turn that rich brown color you expect to see when you're searing meat before putting it into a stew.”

After about five hours pass, Griffith deglazes the vegetable pan with the hot stock and pours the roasted veggies into the pot — we don't want to waste any of that flavor. At this point, he also adds some herbs and spices: parsley, thyme, bay leaves, black pepper, and carrot greens. We let it simmer for another hour, and after that we drain it. Since it's a meat stock, we can't put the veggies in the compost, but they certainly have not been wasted. Using a strainer and another pot, Griffith pours out the stock and removes the bones and veggies. Let them sit in the strainer for a while to drain and to cool. Again, we're not wasting flavor, and we don't want to melt the trash bag. The stock gets covered and goes outside into the barn to cool, since the outside temperature has gone up to 4°. For larger batches, break up into smaller amounts to cool, or freeze a soda bottle filled with water and put it in the pot to aid cooling. Later on, we'll skim the fat off the top once it is cool and package up into quart containers to freeze.

Now that you know how we did it, here are some different types of stock you can make:

White chicken: Don't roast your bones and veggies. Cook for at least three hours before adding veggies and another hour after adding. If you want a dark stock, go ahead and roast them! Turkey and other fowl work just as well.

Brown veal/beef: Roast the bones and veggies. Cook for at least five hours before adding veggies and another hour after adding. Venison and other game meats work just as well.

White veal/beef: Don't roast the bones and veggies. Cook for at least five hours before adding veggies and another hour after adding. Venison and other game meats work just as well.

Vegetable: Use a wider variety of vegetables; whatever is to your taste or whatever you have saved. Roast for darker color. If you're not roasting the vegetables, sweat them in the bottom of the stock pot, then add water. Cook for 30-40 minutes or longer if desired.

Fish: Use bones and trimmings — skin, heads, fins, shells; everything but the guts — with water or mixed water and dry white wine, and veggies. Omit carrots and use parsnips for lighter color. Use more fish and less water, since fish has a lighter flavor than other meats. Sweat the fish trimmings and vegetables in the pot, then add water and cook for 30-40 minutes or longer if desired.

So, what can we do with this stock? Make soups and stews of course! But there are other useful things, too. Many period recipes will ask you to add a little stock to vegetable dishes for extra flavor. It can also be used for flavoring rice or other grains, making gravy or sauce, cooking shellfish, braising or boiling meat, and it's essential for making aspic.

From the Herald

Greetings to the Province,

As Herald of our most wonderful group I send greetings. For those who may not know me, I am Conall an Doire. I have been herald for Malagentia for the last couple of years and will be continuing to be herald for us for the next term. You might ask yourself what are the duties of the herald? What does a herald do? I'm glad you asked.

A Herald's first duty, and for me great joy, is to assist those gentles that have not registered a name and device through the college of heralds. Getting a name and if wished a personal device, to be registered is not as easy as grabbing any token book and saying "this looks good". As herald I assist you in finding a period accurate name that would have been in use during the time frame that you are interested in. In addition to a name, I can help with a personal device to call your own.

Sounds cool right? Yes it is. So you may be asking "How do I get started so that I may be fully registered?" It's as simple as emailing me at conallandoire@maine.rr.com or getting me on Facebook, (Conall an Doire), with a rough idea of what time period you are looking for, what nationality you are looking toward, and if you have an idea of a name already, what it is. Then, I will start the process right away.

If you're stumped for ideas, take a look at what other Malagentians have registered:

<http://malagentia.eastkingdom.org/main/passed-names-and-devices-2/>

My goal is to help you get started in a wonderful time in the "land of the bad people".

Conall an Doire

From the Quartermaster

After taking rough inventories of our belongings, by the time you are reading this Malagentia should have finally spent the money that has been budgeted for the last two years to increase our kitchen inventory. It's a little late, but better late than never.

With planning GNE and the move of the storage site, the project that did not occur is the construction of crates for the Province tents. Unfortunately, the weight of the canvas tops will crush a plastic tote if even stacked two high. If we can roll over the money to next year, then I will attempt this next summer.

The project on the horizon is assembling shelves for storage. I have a number of wire shelves that I used when my belonging were in storage when I was in school, and I am going to slowly set them up in the storage unit. My hope is that by having the larger storage unit, and the use of shelves and stacking equipment that we can have an aisle in the unit and be able to access any item in storage without the need to move other items. If the shelves I am donating are not enough (and there is that distinct possibility with the amount of items that we own), then we can look at putting aside money to build shelves in the 2015 budget.

Looking at the kitchen supplies inventory, the final project is to make the totes have logical organization and defined inventories per tote.

If anyone would like to know what is in our storage, then take a look at these inventories:

From the Chancellor Minor

Greetings to all who read these words. For those who do not know me, my name is Thalia of Malagentia. Mundanely know as Terri Blaisdell. I have just been elected to the position of Youth Officer. My husband and I have been involved with the SCA for about 21 years and our son Adam is now 18. I also serve the East Kingdom as a Chirurgeon and archery marshall. I am hoping to provide enrichment activities for the youth of the area and welcome any input you may have. Plans have already begun for classes and activities geared toward children for Great Northeastern War, but I don't have a theme yet. Suggestions are welcome and encouraged. Last year's theme was China.

From the Web Minister

Hello, friends!

Your previous web minister, Lord Justin Turner, has stepped down and I have been recruited to take his place. Thank you, Justin, for filling the previous gap.

I am looking forward to working with you all toward making the website and other Internet tools work well for you. This task has been made monumentally easier by the excellent work done by our resident whiz kid Baroness Mylisant Grey. The website she implemented earlier this year is easy to edit even for those of you who leap screaming onto a chair at the sight of a computer mouse. Mylisant has graciously offered to continue as special deputy, and even now plans are afoot to further improve the site. Thanks, Mylisant!

Keeping the website information updated is essential to making the site useful. Officers - please check your events and information to make sure you're current! I am happy to help if you have any difficulty making changes. You won't be alone - I'll be working on some updates as well.

Within the last year or so, a Facebook group has been created for the Province. It has been very well used and is a wonderful tool for conversations. In my opinion, it has increased the sense of community. Undoubtedly it has been more heavily participated in than the Yahoo group ever was. This has had the side effect of reducing the amount of non-essential messages on the Yahoo group, which, for me at least, has made keeping track of official announcements simpler. Yahoo has had some issues and is perhaps not the most reliable service every day of the year, but it has the advantage of being easy to follow for folks who just want to use email. It is the recognized electronic means of making official announcements. Unless there is a decision made to change that, any official announcements should be made to the Yahoo group. It would also be very helpful if you could echo any official announcements on the Facebook group, either yourself, or, if you are not there, through a friend who is on Facebook. There is some integration with these two outlets and the website, and more is possible in the future.

Do you have ideas about what we can do to improve malagentia.org? Do you despair at the dearth of tweets? Love the way things are? Please let me know. My email address is below, and I can usually be found at fencing practice Tuesday nights.

From the Knight Marshall

Greetings to all the Bad People in the Province of Malagentia. For those of you who may not know, I am Lord Michael Acrensis. I hail from the city of Acre in the fallen Kingdom of the same name. I now find myself in the bickering states of the Italians. By my reckoning it is the year 1313 and there is war in the Holy Roman Lands called Austria and Bavaria. There is also fighting happening in the Lands of the Scots.

I have the distinct privilege of serving as your Knights Marshal. For the newly minted, that means that I am the safety officer for heavy list fighting within the Province. It is my job to make sure that fighters are within the rules and safe when they fight. I am also responsible for holding a practice, so that there is an opportunity to participate in this bruising, crushing, smashing, sport and way of life we enjoy. To that end, I also cart around a fair selection of loaner Armour purchased by the Province so that people have the means to try it out. So come on out and give it a try. It isn't as bad as it sounds.... really.

During the winter months and when the sun is not in the sky long enough, practice is held in the USM Gym in Portland from 6 to 9 PM on Tuesdays. If you are not sure if the Gym is open or if the weather is going to get in the way, or any other question you have, send me an email at KMMuske@gmail.com or give me a call at 776-9957. I will be happy to help however I can. One final note on practice in the Gym. USM charges $5 per person to use the Gym, and you have to have a photo ID to get in.

When the weather is nicer and the light is in the sky practice is held at the same time but out on the quad at the University. It's a very nice get together with lots of other folk in the SCA, not just us burly fighter types. Outside there is no cost, so come on out and give it a look if not a try.

Lord Michael Acrensis

GNEW NEEDS YOUR HELP

Volunteers are now being sought for GNEW. Contact Sir Marcus for positions and details.

From the Captain of the Archers

Deormund Wulfscyld, Archery Captain, unto the People of the Province of Malagentia:

My heartfelt and humble thanks to all. No prodigal has ever been welcomed home more warmly. I am enormously impressed and encouraged by what you all have accomplished in the years I spent marooned in Mundania. I will work very hard to continue in the best traditions of the Province.

For those who do not know me, my life-long love of archery began in the nineteen-fifties, watching Errol Flynn, and later, Richard Greene, as Robin Hood outwit the Sheriff of Nottingham. I got a kid's archery set when I was about 5, and have been shooting ever since. I still occasionally use a bow I bought in my teens, a solid fiberglass 40-pound recurve from Herter's, the long-vanished mail-order firm in Waseca, Minnesota. You might also see me shoot a 1969 Bear Grizzly or a late-70's Martin ML-10 longbow. Good gear, well cared for, lasts a lifetime.

Archery is arguably the most accessible and democratic (with a small 'd') of the three main martial arts practiced in these Current Middle Ages. Anyone from schoolchildren to dotards like me who can follow directions can be an archer. You don't need muscle – even the lightest bow will shoot 20 yards, and a 30-pounder will drop arrows into the clout at 100. Nor is agility a factor. People can, and do, shoot from wheelchairs. At 66, I am recovering from shoulder reconstruction surgery and my third knee operation. And you don't need a lot of money. Loaner gear is readily available at events and practices. If you're in the market for your own, serviceable arrows can be had from $40/dozen, and a decent used bow for about the same. A hundred dollars will cover everything you really need. Eventually you may want to upgrade. That's up to you.

My goal for the upcoming year is to increase opportunities for people to shoot. We need more ranges and more practices. I will come to you to make this happen: think 'Have bow, will travel'. I can provide instruction, loaner equipment (bows, arrows, targets and more) and advice when buying your own. I will continue to help train marshals and will appoint deputies as needed to encourage archery in every corner of the Province. Ideally, no one should have to drive more than a half-hour to participate.

I hope you will.

Without an Assize of Arms or a law like Edward III's requiring two hours at the butts each Sunday, all I can do is invite you to join me. Which I do, and will, every chance I get.

Yours in Service to the Society, the Province and to Archery,

Deormund Wulfscyld, CSC

From the Chatelaine

Greetings to you all,

My name is Odelina of St. Albans and I've been in the SCA about three years now. I first came to the SCA because of the fighting, but I stayed because I love the people! It's a great way to make friends. I was a heavy list fighter in the beginning, but I switched over to fencing. I dabble in sewing and illumination as well- but really, I want to try everything! The SCA offers so much knowledge, and I haven't met anyone not willing to teach what they know.

As Chatelaine, my job is to welcome new people to the SCA, and help them! This could be either by helping them get garb for an event, or find classes that teach what they're interested in, or even just help them meet new people and make friends. That's the great thing about the SCA- you can do as little or as much as you want, and still be a very active member.

Over the next year, my most immediate goal is to freshen up our Gold Key- which are the clothes we loan to new people at events. I'm looking to sort, update, and repair what we have, and perhaps even make some new things to offer to our guests with the help of my Deputy, Danielle Fecteau (Elena Rosa Da Venezia).

While we don't have any demos in the immediate future, I'm sure there will be soon!

For all the new folk or anyone looking to host a demo, I can be reached on Facebook- my name is Heather Creighton- or you can email me at HeatherACreighton@gmail.com.

From the Mistress of the Lists

Greetings All!

My name is Wynefryd Bredhers and I am your newly elected friendly neighborhood Mistress of the Lists (MOL). I assumed the position in June when Baroness Mylisant Grey was called to be Northern Region Deputy MOL and was formally elected this December.

The duties of the Provincial MOL are to help the Kingdom's MOL to carry out their duties, being: maintaining accurate records on the fighting activities and the fighters of the Kingdom, coordinating the Crown Lists, and working with the Earl Marshal and the Kingdom Marshal of Fence to maintain a list of authorized fighters. In not so many words, I'm the one who'll remind fighters/fencers when their authorizations are coming up for renewal or have expired, I'll send your authorization forms up to the Kingdom,

I can get you a replacement authorization card and I'll help run the local tourneys. I'll be happy to help answer any questions or solve any problems.

This will be my 5th year participating in the SCA, yet I sometimes still feel like a newbie. So bear with me as I continue to gain experience in this office and please don't hesitate to offer guidance and constructive criticism when warranted. We're all in this great game together and I hope to contribute to our fun and safe conduct.

So with that, I offer you the current list of expired and expiring authorizations for Heavy List and Fencing. Feel free to contact me with any questions, comments or concerns at kimberwolf

(at) gmail (dot) com.

From the Minister of Arts & Sciences

Hi there! I'm Camille, your friendly Provincial A&S Minister! The Province has an amazing amount of talent in all sorts of different arts and sciences, so there is no shortage of Stuff To Learn. Just ask. If I can't help directly, I can probably point you at somebody who can.

With the holiday season mostly finished, plans are to have music rehearsals at least once a month, a vocal/singing gathering once a month, dancing every third Thursday, and some scribal and craft nights on a semi-regular basis (as announced, where announced).

My Deputy, Lord Froderick (Scott Furrow), is organizing the first bardic gathering sometime this month, come sing!

Event-Related Information

Running Gate: Please remember that if you are the one designated in charge of gate at an event you are considered my deputy for the duration of the event. This includes pre-event planning as well. This is not a position that allows much creativity. Because of all the paperwork associated with it, gate must be run in the same basic manner at each event. If you are considering volunteering to run a gate, please talk to me and I'll walk you through everything you need.

Expenses and Receipts: Do not make any purchases without getting it approved first! Budgets must be adhered to so either the seneschal, autocrat or myself must make all approvals. No reimbursements will be made without a printed store receipt. Receipts are due to me no later than two weeks after the event but, if at all possible, please plan to have receipts to me before or on the day of the event.

Yours in service,

GIGGLESWICK F.A.Q .

What is a Riding?

A group within a Province that has its own officers and operating as an SCA group, except for financial independence, but still part of the Province (think of a town within a county).

Where is Giggleswick?

Giggleswick starts at Wells, Sanford, Lebanon, and encompasses everything south to the border.

Is this Giggleswick thing really just a secret plan to take over the world?

Drats! You're on to us... Just kidding, actually there turned out to be a lot of people in Malagentia's southern lands that wanted to play but couldn't make it up to the social center of Malagentia on a regular basis so they got together and formed a Riding to encourage and support participation in the Seacoast areas.

News from the Incipient Riding of Giggleswick

Greetings fellow Malagentians from the fair lands of Giggleswick. This last year has been a whirlwind of activity here in the southern lands. In less than a year, we have established an Incipient Riding, run an event, run a demo, and budgeted for next year. Our officers and citizens have been hard at work to build a healthy group here in the south. We would like to say a huge thank you to those that have helped us along the way.

With a new year ahead of us, we have a lot planned. By the time this prints, we will have had a Regional Fencing practice. Keep an eye out for more of these down the road. We will be adding Heavy List to our weekly practices, hosting an event, and holding two of our own.

The first will be a Bardic Symposium on May 3rd; We would love to see lots of people in our neck of the woods for this exciting event.

Our name and device are in the final decision stage and we hope to see them pass toward the end of January. We also plan to petition for full status this year (for those wondering, the only thing this will change is the "incipient" part of our name).

Finally, we plan to get out in the community and do more demos this year, and we would love any and all willing to assist and attend as these come up.

We look forward to a busy and exciting year and wish everyone a long and prosperous year.

In Service,

Lord Lucien de Wdntere
Seneschal, Riding of Giggleswick

The Unnamed Bardic Melody

By Gregor McLaughlin • Music by Fionn Mac Con Dhuibh

The players will assemble,
The drinks will pour,
Our hearts will blossom,
As more come through the door.

With glasses in hand,
And smiles on our faces,
We'll start the reciting of tales of people and places.

We'll laugh and we'll cry,
We'll applaud and cheer,
Then hug one another in this place so dear.

When we tire ourselves to the point of collapse,
They'll drop food and wine square in our laps.
When we've had our fill of such a grand feast,
We'll learn more of our craft from those who would teach.

When the time reaches its end and we must take leave of this place,
It is always with warmth and a smile on our face.
For we know that soon we will embark to meet once again,
For we are Malagentian Bards, and the tales never end.

From the Barony of Stonemarche:

At the Baronial Birthday event in October, Baron Juan Xavier established a new marshal order for the Barony: The Order of the White Gate. This order recognizes contributions to the martial arts and is divided into companies for each field. Stonemarche also held a Service EKV in November and a Yule event in December.

A Market Day at Birka is coming to the Radisson Hotel in Manchester, NH on January 24-25.

At that time Jocelyn della Spada and Dorio of the Oaks will become the new Baron and Baroness of Stonemarche.

BRING ON THE POMP

PREPARED BY LORD CONALL AN DOIRE

The Provincial Order of March & Precedence is a sequential hierarchy of rank of the residents of Malagentia based on level of awards received and the date which the person received it. At formal events, the Order of Precedence determines the order in which people are presented to the Crown but the POMP can also help determine who should be recommended for awards. The POMP is a moving target. For the most up-to-date list, as well as details about the awards given to people on this list, please go to the Malagentian website at <http://malagentia.eastkingdom.org/>
